Your Chance To Hear Atwater

The new Duxbury Photo Group will present its most distinguished member, Cecil Atwater of Surplus St. He will address local shutter-bugs on "How to get the Most out of Color." Recently returned from a nation-wide lecture tour for the Photographic Society of America, Mr. Atwater is a Fellow of that group and of the Royal Photographic Society. Recognized the world over for his black-and-white pictorial salon prints, he is also a specialist in color and last year did a series of pictures on Duxbury gardens.

This meeting will be in the elementary school auditorium on Friday, May 11 at 8 p.m. This FREE session is open to the public. Why not come and join our group? If you have ever snapped a picture or ever wanted to, you are welcome. We range from box camera novices to professional and those super amateurs who carry half-a-dozen Leicas wherever they go. Come and give your ideas on future activities. For additional information call Richard Boyer, Chairman, or Don King of Bayridge Lane.

See beautiful color; hear expert Atwater.
